

Cafe Owner, Kin Robbed, Tortured

Three gunmen tortured a wealthy restaurant owner and his wife in their exclusive Los Altos home, ransacked the place for four hours and fled yesterday with some $2500 in cash and jewelry — including their small daughter's piggy bank.

The trio jabbed knives under the fingernails of their victim, John H. Rickey, in an unsuccessful effort to learn the combinations of safes in his restaurants in San Francisco and Palo Alto. They escaped in Mrs. Rickey's car about 2 a.m.

Rickey gave this account of the robbery to Sheriff Howard Hornbuckle of Santa Clara County:

The gunmen accosted him at his garage as he arrived home about 10 p.m. They entered the house, covering Rickey, his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Rickey, and his sister, Miss Adele Rickey of Atlantic City N. J. Then they awoke Darlene Rickey, 9, and imprisoned the four in the master bedroom while they ransacked the house.

Later in the night, they ripped up telephone wires and lamp cords, bound the women tightly to two beds and demanded of Rickey the location of the house safe. He said there was none. Then they asked the combinations of his restaurant safes.

"I couldn't give them to them because I don't know them," he said.

They took Rickey into another bedroom and tied him to a chair. Knives were probed under his fingernails. Rickey's wife screamed and one of the bandits crammed a towel down her throat, forcing it far down with a gun butt.

They threw Rickey to the floor and beat him about the face.

After they finally had left, Rickey stumbled into the master bedroom, freed the women and made his way across fields to his nearest neighbor, Edgerly Collier, where the sheriff was called and a physician was summoned.

He was suffering severe head injuries.

The restaurant owner said the gunmen worked by flashlight and with frequent drinks from a whiskey bottle they found in the kitchen. He was unable to identify them, except that they appeared to have "sort of cowboy accents."

City Completes Annexing Needs

Papers will be mailed today, City Atty. Cuthbert Currie said, which will complete the annexation of Friendly Acres to Redwood City.

The annexation completion was delayed when Secy. of State Frank Jordan demanded a separate description of the area certified by City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge.

Currie said that the description, certified by Dodge, had been included in an annexing ordinance, but that Jordan wanted a separate description in addition to the ordinance.

All changes Jordan requested have been complied with, Currie said.

The city council voted to annex the area on the basis of an election held in 1939. The annexation was delayed from then until now because of the war. During war years, councilmen said, they couldn't furnish city services to the area. Consequently they delayed sending final papers to Jordan until this week.

SF YMCA Opens Campaign

The San Francisco Metropolitan YMCA this week officially opened its 1948 membership drive at a dinner meeting at the Marine Memorial Club.

Progress of the drive in the Sequoia YMCA District was reported by Otto Tallent, membership chairman. Kenneth T. Osman, 'Y' executive secretary here, also attended the meeting.

A YMCA victory dinner will be held at the Central Branch 'Y' in San Francisco Feb. 19, at which time membership committee members from here are expected to attend.

Meantime, Osman today announced a change in the meeting date of the board of managers of the Sequoia district. The meeting will be held at noon Feb. 10, instead of Feb. 12, as originally scheduled.

Need for World Government Aired at San Carlos Forum

"There is no common language on which to start basic proceedings for world government," according to Dr. John Mathews, speaker on "World Government," at last night's Forum in San Carlos.

Dr. Mathews discussed the outlook of how world government could proceed under existing world conditions. "We are facing an inflationary war within our own borders," he said, "and we need to strengthen our own inner society."

"We are too busy earning a living to stop and give heed to the problems of the world. Consequently our very problems of world chaos are due to lack of understanding."

Philip Dorman, a student from Stanford University, upheld the affirmative with pleas for the public to trust Russia and the aggressor nations until they proved themselves actually unresponsive to friendly gestures of world cooperative government.

"We must spread the ideal of world government by our own conviction and understanding," he said. He presented three basic principles which leaders of world government seem to advocate: 1. Make it an impossibility for each sovereign nation to become the aggressor by disarmament; 2. Establish an international army to enforce the laws of the world government; 3. Control the development of atomic science.

Dorman said he felt the only alternative to world government was war and we should first do all in our power to try to promote the possibility of a world government plan.

Dr. Mathews, in answer to the question as to whether he believed we should simply ignore the world and solve our own problems, said that he was not an isolationist. He said we should stand behind the efforts of the United Nations because it is a step in the right direction. But actual world government, with each sovereign nation voluntarily entering a federal state, he said, is still impractical.

Dorman was asked to explain specific incidents of Russian aggressions against trust and friendship.

Menlo Park Explains Sewage Proposals

Menlo Park Sanitary Dist. has not deliberately stalled in its efforts to set up a sewage treatment plant, but has been held up by government red tape in obtaining facilities for an engineering department in the old Dibble Hospital recreation area, Dr. Lawrence Cook, secretary of the sanitary board, said today.

Dr. Cook was commenting on the warning issued Saturday by the State Board of Health that cities and sanitary districts will be subject to legal action if they do not stop dumping raw sewage into San Francisco Bay.

He said that after a year of waiting the district has leased a building on the hospital grounds where a newly-appointed engineering staff will begin work on plans for a sewage treatment plant Feb. 1.

Two engineers, Cedric Webster of Menlo Park, now employed at the NACA laboratory at Moffett Field, and O. D. Hobson of Redwood City, formerly employed by the San Mateo County engineer's office, will draw up all plans for the plant which will be built on Bay land with money the district hopes to raise in a bond issue to be presented to voters this summer.

Dr. Cook says he feels the district will make sufficient progress on its plan to forestall legal action by the state. The plant is expected to be able to serve the Belle Haven and North Palo Alto Sanitary Districts in addition to the Menlo Park district.

Burlingame Files Appeal in Dog Case

The city of Burlingame Tuesday filed an appeal in superior court from a judgment ordering it to pay $861 to the owner of a poisoned dog.

The judgment was given in favor of Earl H. Marston of Burlingame by the South San Francisco justice court.

Marston had sued for $864.50, claiming that his dog, a Boxer female, had eaten weed-killer which the city of Burlingame had placed about the streets. As a result of eating the weed killer, sodium arsenate, the dog, a pedigreed animal, became sick and Marston claimed that he had to pay $114.50 in veterinarian fees.

T. L. Hickey Attacks Grant On Road Fund

The control by County Engineer M. A. Grant of $600,000 in road funds without accountability to the board of supervisors was attacked Tuesday by Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey of South San Francisco.

"I don't see why any one man should be allowed to dictate how $600,000 should be spent, without any check by the board of supervisors," Hickey declared. "There's no other county department head who has similar authority."

Hickey's attack came during a heated session held this morning by the board of supervisors, which was asked by Brisbane residents to repair an unmapped road.

The road, according to the residents, is impassable to fire equipment and ambulances, creating a dangerous situation in case of an emergency.

"Is the board going to sit still because the county engineer says that there is not enough money?" Hickey demanded.

"There is enough to spend $300,000 on Whipple Rd., and the residents told the board that they did not want the work done. No traffic count on Whipple Rd. has come to the attention of the board."

"I think the board would be derelict in its duty if it did not provide funds for the Brisbane road."

Grant defended the expenditure of $300,000 on Whipple Rd., stating that the work was done with state and federal funds.

"Federal and state authorities said to place the road there, and there it is," Grant said.

Brisbane residents came before the board seeking an extension to Brisbane Rd., opening upon Bayshore Hwy. The present road, servicing about 35 homes in Brisbane Acres, is an unmapped dirt road, and Fire Chief Louis Terry said that a two-mile detour is necessary before fire equipment can reach the area.

Terry said that efforts to have the road improved have failed because "every time we come, the county engineer finds something else wrong." He proposed that the county take it into the secondary road system, thereby insuring its upkeep.

Grant, claiming that Brisbane residents paid no road taxes, said that $120,000 has been expended over a period of years in the area.

"Brisbane never has paid a road tax," he declared. "These people don't pay a nickel — they've been riding on a free ticket ever since I've been in office."

"We don't like to have slams thrown at us by the county engineer," Terry retorted. "He says he's spent $30,000 on road maintenance. If he has, I can't see where the money has gone. All that has been done is a little patching."

"We're not here as beggars. We're asking for something that is due to us."

E. H. Krampert, a contractor, explained that Brisbane has 4800 residents and only one entrance or exit from the town. This he called a bottleneck in case of fire or some disaster, since emergency vehicles would have difficulty getting in or out.

After the hour-long debate the board instructed Grant to repair the present 1800 foot stretch of the road. Brisbane residents meanwhile are to discuss the formation of a road district, and if the district is to be formed, the board is to ask the state division of highways for another access road from Bayshore Hwy. into Brisbane.

Work Begins On Dredging

Work was under way today on a project to dredge the San Bruno Shoals to a depth of 29 feet, ex-Port Mgr. A. A. Moran said.

Moran, who is now a vice president of the Intercean Steamship Corp., said that the dredging by the U. S. Engineers was the biggest thing that has ever been accomplished in favor of the Redwood City port.

He said the dredging would make the port available to ocean going steamships at all stages of the tide.

The channel is to be 200 feet wide and Moran predicted that it would be completed in three months. At present the channel across the shoals is only 24 feet deep. This means that deeper draft vessels must plan to reach the channel only at high tides. When the dredging is completed they will be able to pass through it safely at even the lowest tide. The job was approved by the federal organization through the efforts of Congressman Jack Z. Anderson, Moran said. It will cost, Moran estimated, $100,000.

Belmont Residents Vote On Recreation Bond Issue

The fate of a $99,000 bond issue for the purpose of purchasing a recreation center will be decided today by Belmont voters in what may prove to be a hotly contested election.

Election officials today predicted a possible record vote today. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The two precincts, according to City Clerk Catherine Heartner, will be at the new city hall on Fifth Ave. and at 836 Alameda de las Pulgas.

Feeling over the bond issue has mounted in Belmont during the past week as both proponents and opponents of the recreation project have wound up their campaigns.

The bond issue is for the purpose of purchasing the nine and one-half acre Pullman estate on

County Real Estate Board Members to Greet Leaders

Members of the Burlingame-San Mateo Real Estate Board will participate with the Central San Mateo County Real Estate Board and other neighboring organizations tomorrow in a meeting at the Benjamin Franklin according to James E. Russell, president of the local board.

Visiting this district for the first time will be Fred B. Mitchell of San Diego, president of the state association, accompanied by State Secy. Eugene P. Conner of Los Angeles. Mitchell, who also is Pacific Coast member of the executive committee of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, will have returned only recently from a series of realtor meetings in Washington, D. C., and will bring to the local real estate groups a message on both national and state affairs.

"Our state president recently has suggested plans for private capital to buy the government out of the housing business," states President Russell of the local board.

"Another program of particular interest to our local realtors," Russell said, "is a proposal of the state association to sponsor this year a series of two-day educational clinics or forums which may include this community in an itinerary to be followed by a group of prominent California educator-realtors. Our local board is interested also in advancing educational work among our members."

SAVE ELECTRICITY

THE DROUGHT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT AN EMERGENCY IN THE STATE'S POWER SUPPLY! WE ARE COMPELLED TO ASK OUR CUSTOMERS TO CURTAIL THE USE OF ELECTRICITY IN THEIR BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENTS, ON THEIR FARMS AND IN THEIR FACTORIES.

If You Run A Commercial Establishment

1. Turn Off All Window Lights and Electric Signs.
2. Use No Exterior or Interior Floodlighting.
3. Use Electric Power Elsewhere Only When Necessary.

If You Run A Factory

1. Curtail Power Consumption Wherever You Can.
2. Avoid Use of Electricity Between the Hours of 4 and 8 p. m., the Peak Load Hours, Shifting Operations to Other Hours Wherever Possible.
3. Check Your Factory and Offices to Eliminate All Waste of Electric Power.

If You Are At Home

1. Light No Unused Rooms.
2. Use Appliances For As Short Periods As Possible.

If You Are A Farmer

1. Shut Down Your Pumping Plants Wherever Possible Between 4 and 8 p.m., Shifting Your Irrigation Schedule to Other Hours of Day or Night.
2. Use Electrically-Powered Equipment Only When Absolutely Necessary.

P.G. & E.

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

BECAUSE of the record drought there is an abnormal irrigation pumping load in the rural areas. In Northern California this unseasonable demand for electricity now approximates 200,000 horsepower and comes at a time when under normal conditions our system load would be decreasing. The situation in the valleys would, of course, be relieved by heavy rain. Until such relief comes we must ask our customers to curtail their use of electricity in every possible way. Our customers can be assured that we have done and will continue to do everything possible to meet the problems brought about by the record drought.

Trio Gets Prison Sentence In Theft Hearings Here

Three men were sentenced to the state prison at San Quentin by San Mateo County courts late Monday, for crimes ranging from the theft of a scooter to armed robbery.

The scooter thief is John E. Manion, a 24-year-old Coloradan who has spent two-fifths of his life engaged in various crimes, or paying for them.

Manion was sentenced to San Quentin by Judge Edmund Scott for the theft of a $300 motor scooter in Burlingame the day before Christmas.

When asked by Judge Scott why he took the scooter, Manion shrugged and said that he just wanted to take a ride.

Probation Officer John S. Cowgill reported that Manion had been released on parole from San Quentin less than eight months ago after he had served three and a half years for burglary.

Manion's record started in Denver when he was 15 years old. He was given probation for petty theft. At the age of 16 he was picked up for automobile theft, and again was put on probation.

From there, his crimes became more serious. He served two terms for burglary, and once was shot by a police officer when caught in the commission of a crime.

The second criminal sentenced to San Quentin also started early and during three years wrote a five-page record of juvenile delinquency.

He is Robert Jacobson, 19, described by Judge Aylett R. Cotton as the ringleader in a burglary quartet which stole $2000 from the New Deal Club, San Mateo, on Dec. 29.

The other three were sentenced by Judge Cotton to one year each in the county jail. They are Lloyd Morrison, 24; Ernest Lurpape, 22, and his brother, William Lurpape, 30.

The quartet was nabbed when Jacobson tried to exchange a roll of coins for cash, was questioned and admitted the burglary, implicating the other three.

Cowgill reported that the same quartet allegedly entered the Lerner store in San Francisco and attempted to make off with a heavy safe containing $30,000.

According to Cowgill, Morrison was left outside the store to drive the getaway car, but he became frightened and drove off, leaving the others holding the safe.

The third man to find the gates of San Quentin waiting for him is James A. Loman, a 26-year-old race track follower. Officers said that Loman is an escapee from the Ohio State Penitentiary, where he was serving time for armed robbery.

Loman pleaded guilty to the Christmas morning holdup of a bartender and three customers at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, San Mateo. He was captured shortly after he left the bar with a pocketful of bills and small change.

Other young men, engaged in their first brushes with the law, got off with probation and warnings to walk the straight line.

Robert L. Eilenberger, 20-year-old Los Angeleno, was given two years' probation by Judge Cotton. Eilenberger had pleaded guilty to a grand theft charge resulting from the borrowing of $400 from a family friend, Mrs. L. Wolf of Burlingame, on pretext that he needed money for a sick wife.

Probation was granted on the condition that Eilenberger repay the $400 within six months.

Another case of probation and restitution was that of Robert

Peninsulans Rank Highly In Dog Championship Events

Peninsula dog breeders over the weekend in the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco. Over 1600 dogs were entered in the annual Golden Gate Kennel Club dog show held as far as Seattle and New York. Second in the sporting dog group, and defeated only by Golden Retriever Ch. Czar of Belmont.

B. E. Berman's Standard Schnauzer, Ch. Chief of Staff won best-of-breed in the Schnauzer class, and moved on to win third place in the working dog group, comprising 515 dogs. The group was won by a St. Bernard, Gerda v.d. Duag von Alpine Plateau, recently imported from Switzerland.

In the hound group, Gertrude Hooft's Whippet Ch. Picardia Polkadot was awarded second place behind the winning Bloodhound, Ezra of Clan Dougan. Pekinese, Pekelands' Wong Loy, owned by B. O. Butler of East Palo Alto won second in the toy dog group finishing behind Miniature Pinscher Ch. Rajah Siegenburg.

The non-sporting dog group was won by E. E. Ferguson's Ch. Magie Fate of Blakeen which took best-of-breed in the Miniature Poodle class. Best-team-in-show went to a team of four Miniature Pinschers owned by Mrs. Anton B. Korbel of Belmont. Mrs. Eleanor D. Poole's English Cocker Spaniel Ch. Pri-vater of Chaparral won best-of-breed, while a Bull Terrier puppy, Lady Nancy, owned by M. R. Reynolds, won best-opposite-sex in the Bull Terrier class.

Old English Sheepdog Miss Lynn Winnie, owned by Marjorie Woods of La Honda also won a best-opposite-sex award. Among the unusual dogs exhibited in the show was a Rhodesian Ridge-back Lion Hound, Columbia Smits of Welkom owned by W. W. Mein Jr., Woodside, who recently obtained the dog in Africa.

Bonds Beaten In Heaviest Belmont Vote

Belmont voters this week decisively plowed under a $99,000 recreation bond issue in the largest municipal election turnout in the history of Belmont.

The bonds were defeated 453 to 294, by a slight majority in consolidated Precinct 2, and by 2 to 1 in consolidated Precinct 1. City Clerk Catherine Heartsner reported that yesterday's vote was the heaviest in the city's history. She said that a total of 753 out of the city's 1258 registered voters had gone to the polls.

The $99,000 bond issue was to raise money for the purchase of the Pullman estate on Ralston Ave. and the conversion of the site into a recreation center.

Although supported by the Belmont Civic Assn. and other civic and service organizations, strong opposition from the Belmont Property Owners Assn. and several Belmont realtors developed during the last few weeks before the election.

In consolidated Precinct 1, the area east of the railroad tracks and the downtown area, the bonds lost 123 to 238.

In Precinct 2, which included the Belle Mont area, near the location of the proposed recreation center, the vote was closer, the bonds losing by a margin of 171 to 215.

James Healy, chairman of the recreation commission which proposed the bond election, expressed surprise today at the outcome of yesterday's balloting. Healy said that while he expected a close election, he did not think that the bonds would be defeated by a nearly 2 to 1 majority.

Lloyd Taft, who obtained the option on the Pullman estate from its owner, Paul Henry of Laytonville, today commented, "The opposition now has the ball and they can either drop it, kick it, or run with it."

The election was called by the city council, which endorsed it, late last December. The Pullman site had been selected by the recreation commission after the commission decided that the Belle Mont clubhouse would be inadequate for a recreation center.

Sequoia Teachers To Study Salaries

A salary study committee was appointed Monday night at a meeting of the Sequoia Teachers' Assn., according to A. C. Argo, superintendent of Sequoia High School.

Argo said that the committee would study the present Sequoia salary schedule and compare local salaries and costs of living with those of other school departments on the Peninsula.

Argo said he did not know whether the committee would recommend that the association seek another salary increase. Last April a new salary schedule prepared by the association was adopted by the board of trustees.

Those appointed to the salary committee include Albert Terremere, Cecil Kyle, Angelina Burns, Vera Jensen, Donald Kauffman, Lawrence Sanderson, Robert Weber and Montana Delbon.

A report on the teachers' group insurance program was made by Clarence Wyatt.

Guest speaker was Ray Spangler, publisher of the Tribune, who discussed the school building program as well as the bond issue election of 1946 and the present proposed bond issue.

Friendly Acres Annexation Legal

Friendly Acres today was officially a part of Redwood City. City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge said that he had received a certificate from Frank M. Jordan, California secretary of state, attesting that the annexation was complete.

Jordan fixed the date of annexation as Jan. 28, the day he received a notification from city councilmen that they had adopted an ordinance completing the annexation. Their ordinance was based on a Sept. 5, 1939, election in which a majority of voters in the area favored annexation. Councilmen delayed filing final papers until this year because they didn't believe they could furnish city services during the war.

The area annexed is between 2nd Ave. and Marsh Rd. and Bayshore Hwy.

A certificate to the annexation of South Kensington Square has not yet been received. Dodge said it was expected Feb. 19, a month from the time the council passed an ordinance annexing the district. An election, favoring annexation, was held there this year.
